JACKSONVILLE, FL – Availity, LLC, a leading provider of electronic administrative, financial, and clinical health information services, today announced its new connectivity option for the transmission of real-time electronic eligibility and benefits and claim status with Florida Medicaid. These transactions are available at no charge to Availity customers on its secure web portal, the Availity® Health Information Network, which securely exchanges information between providers and multiple health plans.

Availity supports eligibility and benefits, authorizations and referrals, claims, claim status, and remittance with several commercial health plans in the state. Adding real-time Florida Medicaid connectivity to the network greatly enhances the value of this robust suite of services for Florida providers.

“Until now, Availity has had to charge health care providers for optional real-time transactions with Florida Medicaid,” stated Julie Klapstein, CEO of Availity. “Offering this service at no charge is fulfilling a need frequently requested by our Florida customers.”
